TRIGO GENERAL POLICY INFORMATION

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 WELCOME

It is a pleasure to welcome you to TRIGO. We wish you every success here. To help you become acquainted with our company, we are providing you with this handbook. It describes some of our policies and procedures. Please read it and become familiar with the information. If you have questions about anything in the handbook or topics not covered, please ask the HR Team. This handbook is informational and provides a guideline for employee conduct and a non-exclusive list of acts for which an employee may be subject to discipline. The company reserves the right to amend, modify and alter the provisions contained in this handbook at any time.

We want your experience here to be enjoyable and rewarding. We hope you will take pride in being a member of the TRIGO team.

1.2 EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY POLICY

It is our policy to provide equal employment opportunities to all employees and applicants for employment. Discrimination is defined as the act of displaying different treatment of others and no person shall be discriminated against because of race, religion, color, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, age, physical disability, genetic information, national origin, status as a disabled or protected veteran or any other protected class as identified by legal criteria.

It is further the policy of TRIGO to provide a work environment free from harassment on the basis of race, religion, color, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, age, physical disability, genetic information, national origin, status as a disabled or protected veteran or any other protected class as identified by legal criteria. Any such harassment is contrary to and prohibited by TRIGO policy and will be considered grounds for disciplinary action, including termination of employment.

We must have the cooperation of all employees in order to implement our equal employment opportunity and anti-harassment policies. If you believe that you have been discriminated against or that you have been harassed because of your race, religion, color, sexual orientation, gender or gender identity, age, physical disability, genetic information, national origin, status as a disabled or protected veteran or any other protected class as identified by legal criteria, or if you believe that you have witnessed such conduct, you must immediately contact your immediate supervisor. If you are uncomfortable discussing this matter with your immediate supervisor, or if you believe that your immediate supervisor has not addressed your concern, you must immediately contact Human Resources with your complaint.

TRIGO will promptly investigate complaints or reports of unlawful discrimination and harassment, and take whatever corrective action is necessary and appropriate, up to and including discharge of any employee who violates this policy. To the extent possible under the circumstances, TRIGO will maintain the confidentiality of complaints or reports under this policy and of information learned during investigations into complaints under this policy.

TRIGO prohibits and will not tolerate any retaliation against persons reporting conduct believed to be in violation of this policy or cooperating in an investigation of such conduct. If any employee believes that he or she has been retaliated against for reporting conduct believed to be in violation of this policy or cooperating in an investigation of such conduct, he or she must report that concern immediately to one or more of the individuals identified above.

Employees have the right to file a charge of discrimination with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (“EEOC”) at the following address:

U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission
1801 L Street NW
Washington, DC 20507
Phone: 1-800-669-4000
TTY: 1-800-669-6820

1.3 IMMIGRATION LAW COMPLIANCE POLICY

TRIGO Quality Solutions US INC has a commitment to employ only United States citizens and aliens who are authorized to work in the United States. We do not unlawfully discriminate based on citizenship or national origin. In order to comply with the Immigrations Reform and Control Act of 1986, each new employee must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and provide documentation establishing identity and employment eligibility. This mandate applies to locations required to conform by government regulations. Former employees who are rehired must also complete the form as required by applicable state laws. If required, verification will be completed through the Department of Homeland Security's E-verify program.

1.4 CODE OF CONDUCT, GENERAL MANAGEMENT POLICY, INTEGRATED MANAGEMENT MANUAL and SPEAK UP PROCEDURE

All employees are expected to comply with the guidelines set forth in the TRIGO Group Code of Conduct which focuses on TRIGO's mission as outlined in the TRIGO GROUP General Management Policy and accompanying Integrated Management Manual (if assigned to you based on your current role) to provide innovative solutions to meet the quality challenges faced by global manufacturing companies throughout the entire supply chain by delivering cost-efficient and reliable services, and TRIGO's 4 Core Values; Global Team Spirit, Excellence, Customer Focus, and Initiative. Please refer to these documents for detailed information on these expectations as well as the expectations outlined in TRIGO's Speak Up Procedure which outlines the process for reporting violations of TRIGO's Code of Conduct.

1.5 SOLICITATIONS, DISTRIBUTIONS AND POSTING OF MATERIALS

TRIGO prohibits the solicitation, distribution and posting of materials on or at company property by any employee or nonemployee, except as permitted by this policy.

Exceptions to this policy are charitable and community activities supported by TRIGO management and company-sponsored programs. Non-employees may not solicit employees or distribute literature of any kind on company premises at any time.

You may not solicit other employees during work times. Distributing pamphlets, circulars or other written materials during work time or in work areas is prohibited.

1.6 CONFIDENTIALITY

The nature of services provided by TRIGO requires information to be handled in a private, confidential manner. All engineering, inspection/sorting activities must be kept confidential. Misinformation or common public discussion regarding the nature of the defects or issues that a supplier is dealing with could be harmful to consumer perception of the supplier or their customer. Information about our business, our employees or clients will only be released to people or agencies outside the company with written consent. Legal or regulatory requirements are the only exceptions to this policy. All reports, memoranda, notes, or other documents will remain part of the company's confidential records. The names, addresses, phone numbers or salaries of our employees will only be released to people authorized by the nature of their duties to receive such information and only with the consent of management or the employee.

The employee further acknowledges in the course of his or her employment, he or she will acquire information about matters that are confidential to the supplier or their customer. It is agreed that such matters (i.e. nature of defects, etc.) remain confidential and are not to be discussed publicly or outside the workplace.

1.7 Non-Disclosure of Trade Secrets:

During the course of your employment, you may be exposed to certain trade secrets consisting of:

- Technical information: methods, processes, formulae, compositions, systems, techniques, inventions, machines, computer programs and research projects.
- Business information: customer lists, pricing data, sources of supply, and marketing, production, or merchandising systems or plans.

During the course of, and after the termination of employment, employees will not use for themselves or others, or disclose or divulge to others any trade secrets, confidential information, or any other data of the Company in violation of this agreement.

2. SAFETY

2.1 GENERAL SAFETY CRITERIA

Safety hazards will vary from location to location, but the following criteria should be observed by all employees wherever applicable, especially on operational sites:

- Know the evacuation route
- Be sure to watch for lift/fork truck traffic when moving to and from worksite
- Around moving equipment, use caution; do not wear loose fitting clothing or jewelry and long hair should be tied back
- In the event of a near miss or accident, contact your supervisor immediately
- Immediately report any potentially unsafe conditions to your supervisor
- Be alert for slipping and tripping hazards
- Be alert for pinch points

2.2 HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

As outlined in the TRIGO Group Health and Safety Policy, TRIGO is committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment for its employees, visitors and contractors by taking every reasonable precaution to protect them from injury, hazards, and disease.

Safety is of mutual interest. Accidents, whenever and wherever they occur, affect your income and well-being. To maintain the maximum degree of safety for all, it is necessary that each employee assumes responsibility for his or her own personal safety and that of fellow employees. Safety can only be maintained if every employee makes a conscious effort toward keeping a safe workplace by eliminating unsafe acts and conditions. Careless acts, negligence, abuse of safety procedures or safety equipment will not be tolerated and will result in disciplinary action.

Each employee is expected to obey safety rules and to exercise caution in all work activities. Employees should immediately report any unsafe conditions to their supervisor. Employees who violate safety standards, who cause hazardous or dangerous situations, or who fail to report such situations may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Please refer to this Policy for detailed information on TRIGO's commitment to safety as well as your responsibilities to this commitment.

2.3 REPORTING INJURIES POLICY

For your own protection, you must report all injuries to your supervisor immediately. Accidents and/or injuries should be reported before you leave your shift. Your supervisor will have the appropriate paperwork for you to fill out and will be able to get you the necessary medical treatment.

If	THE EMPLOYER MUST:	THE EMPLOYEE MUST:
it	- Make sure that first aid is given immediately - Make sure there is a record of the first aid treatment / advice given to the worker - Provide immediate transportation to the hospital, a doctor's office or the worker's home, if necessary - Complete the Accident/Injury Report Form - Provide a copy to the injured worker - Forward all other copies to the email address noted on the form - Pay the full wages for the day or shift on which the injury occurred - Cooperate in the worker's early and safe return to work.	- Get first aid treatment right away. - Tell the employer of any injury or the possible onset of a work-related condition - Provide information to complete the Accident/Injury Report form promptly - Cooperate in a safe return to work
F E

For your safety, do not hesitate to ask your supervisor about any part of your job that seems hazardous or unfamiliar. It is only through alertness, personal commitment, and all our efforts that accidents will be prevented.

2.4 FACILITIES AND HOUSEKEEPING POLICY

We pride ourselves on our facility and offices. Work areas must be maintained in a neat, orderly and businesslike manner. At the end of the workday, a general “clean up” of your work area should be accomplished before leaving.

2.5 WORKING ALONE POLICY

Many jobs require working alone situations. Employees and their supervisors must work together to develop safe work procedures. It is essential that the working conditions or circumstances that present high foreseeable personal safety risks be assessed so the probability of accident or injury can be minimized.

2.5.1 Risk Factors for Working Alone

Supervisors and employees must both evaluate assignments on a case-by-case basis and must consider the following risk factors for working alone:

- Task associated hazards involved in the work to be performed
- Consequences resulting from “worst case” scenario
- Likelihood for other persons to be in the area
- Possibility that a critical injury or incident could prevent the employee from calling for help or leaving the workspace
- Emergency response time
- Employee’s training and experience
- Employee’s physical handicaps or medical conditions
- Effects of implementing appropriate safeguards
- Frequency of job supervision
- The time or shift when the job is to be done
- Whether the employee is accustomed to working alone

2.5.2 Safety Plan for Working Alone

Supervisors shall provide working alone safety plans for the safety and security of persons working alone. Safety plans shall include:

- Identification of the risks or hazards associated with the work to be performed or the environment where the work is to be done
- Procedures to eliminate or minimize the identified risks
- Methods of communication by which the workers can secure emergency assistance
- How emergency assistance will be provided in the event of incidents or accidents

- The length of time a worker may be out of contact with a supervisor (i.e. the frequency of regular communication)
- Confirmation of where and when working alone is permitted

2.5.3 Safety Plan Review / Documentation Requirements for Working Alone

Supervisors must review working alone safety procedures with affected employees and assignments involving hazardous tasks or environments where an employee is required to work alone. Supervisors must also review Customer/TRIGO warehouse safety information, specifically, Safety equipment, Safety instructions, and Emergency contact information.

Supervisors must also maintain documentation illustrating contact made throughout the scheduled shifts (as defined by region) with employees that are required to work alone.

2.5.4 Requirements of the Employee Working Alone

Employees who work alone must:

- Follow safe work practices as instructed to them by their supervisor
- Maintain regular communication with supervisors at least every two hours or as defined by region

2.6 GOLF CART VEHICLE POLICY, GUIDELINES, and AGREEMENT

Certain sites utilize Golf Carts as a means of easy transport inside a facility. These carts have been instrumental in making many of our jobs easier and safer and have improved our ability to service the ever-growing needs of our customer. However, because our “fleet” of carts is as big as it is, we must exercise improved operating procedures to protect pedestrians, drivers & passengers, buildings & grounds, and the carts themselves. Any TRIGO employee who may access a Golf Cart will be issued a separate Golf Cart Vehicle Policy, Guidelines and Agreement once hired. Employees will be expected to read, sign, and agree to the Golf Cart Vehicle Policy, Guidelines, and Agreement before beginning their shift.

3. HUMAN RESOURCES

3.1 EMPLOYEE RELATIONS POLICY

TRIGO is committed to providing a work environment that is conducive to personal and professional growth. The best way for all of us to do this is through communication. Employees with questions, concerns, or complaints, are encouraged to discuss them with their direct TRIGO leader. The Leadership Team is here to provide instruction and training and are available to counsel employees on job-related issues if necessary. Our experience has shown that when employees deal openly and directly with their leadership, the work environment can be excellent, and attitudes can be positive. The leadership-employee relationship is an important one -based on mutual trust and respect. It is best established and maintained when everyone works together to achieve the same objectives.

If, after going to your direct leadership, you feel you need to speak with someone else, you can discuss matters of concern directly with the HR Team.

At times, there is information that needs to be given to all employees. In these cases, we will distribute updates in a format best suited for each location.

3.2 NEPOTISM AND EMPLOYEE RELATIONSHIP POLICY

Nepotism is defined as favoritism shown to a relative by employment on the basis of relationship. TRIGO permits the employment of qualified relatives of the employee's household or immediate family if such employment does not, in the opinion of TRIGO, create actual conflicts of interest.

TRIGO will use sound judgement in the placement of related employees in accordance with the following guidelines:

1. Individuals who are Immediate Family (Defined as individuals related by blood, marriage, or adoption including spouse, common-law spouse, child, stepchild, parent, stepparent, sibling, grandparent, grandchild, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, spouse's grandparent are permitted to work in the same department, provided no direct reporting or supervisor to subordinate relationship exists.
2. Individuals that reside in the Same Household (residing at the same residence) are permitted to work in the same department, provided no direct reporting or supervisor to subordinate relationship exists.
3. No employee is permitted to work within the "Chain of Command" when one relative's work responsibilities, salary, hours, career progress, benefits, or other terms and conditions of employment could be influenced by the other relative within two levels of hierarchy. For example, if there are 3 levels of management and manager #1 reports to manager #2, and manager #2 reports to manager #3, then manager #1's immediate family member could report to manager #3 in the hierarchy.

4. Employees who marry while employed, or become part of the same household, are treated in accordance with these guidelines. That is, if in the opinion of TRIGO, if a Conflict of Interest arises as a result of the relationship, one of the employees may be transferred at the earliest practicable time.

There will be no exceptions to this policy.

3.2.1 Relationships in the Workplace

Consenting “romantic” or sexual relationships between a supervisor, manager, or lead person and an employee may at some point lead to unhappy complications and significant difficulties for all concerned. Accordingly, TRIGO strongly discourages such relationships and any conduct (such as flirting and personal emailing/texting/social media communications) that is designed or may reasonably be expected to lead to the formation of a “romantic” or sexual relationship.

If a romantic or sexual relationship between a supervisor/manager/lead person and an employee should develop, it shall be the responsibility and mandatory obligation of the supervisor/manager/lead person to promptly disclose the existence of the relationship to the HR Manager. The employee is encouraged to make the disclosure as well, but the burden of doing so shall be upon the supervisor/manager/lead person. Failure to disclose such a relationship may result in termination of the supervisor/manager/lead person.

Upon being informed or learning of the existence of such a relationship, TRIGO will investigate and take all steps that it deems appropriate. At a minimum, the employee and supervisor/manager/lead person will not thereafter be permitted to work together and the supervisor/manager/lead person must withdraw from participation in activities or decisions that may reward or disadvantage any employee with whom the supervisor/manager/lead person has or has had such a relationship.

3.3 ANTI-HARASSMENT, ANTI-BULLYING, AND ABUSIVE CONDUCT POLICY

TRIGO is committed to providing a work environment in which all individuals are treated with respect and dignity. Each individual has the right to work in a professional atmosphere that promotes equal employment opportunities and prohibits unlawful discriminatory practices, including harassment. Therefore, TRIGO requires that all relationships among persons in the office will be business-like and free of bias, prejudice, and harassment.

3.3.1 Harassment, Human Rights, and Working Conditions

It is the policy of TRIGO to ensure equal employment opportunity without discrimination or harassment on the basis of (actual or perceived) race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, transgender status, national origin, citizenship, age, disability, genetic information, marital status, amnesty, status as a covered veteran, or any other characteristic protected by federal or state law. TRIGO is committed to recognizing each individual's Human Rights and is committed to maintaining a work environment in which all personnel have an opportunity to develop and contribute fully and are free from harassment, sexual harassment, and discrimination. TRIGO has a zero-tolerance policy against harassment and discrimination. TRIGO commits that all working conditions remain free of such treatment.

Sexual Harassment constitutes discrimination and is illegal under federal, state, and local laws. Examples of sexual harassment include unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature which has the purpose or effect of adversely affecting an employee's job or creating a hostile or offensive working environment.

Sexual Harassment may include a range of subtle and not-so-subtle behaviors and may involve individuals of the same or different gender. Depending on the circumstances, these behaviors may include:

- Unwanted sexual advances or requests for sexual favors to include a direct or implied threat by a supervisor or manager to obtain or keep a job position or other employment benefit ("Quid Pro Quo" – something for something)
- Sexual jokes and innuendo
- Verbal abuse of a sexual nature, insulting or obscene comments or gestures, gender-based epithets
- Commentary about an individual's body, or sexual deficiencies
- Leering, whistling, or touching
- Displays of sexually suggestive objects or pictures
- Other physical, verbal, or visual conduct of a sexual nature

The list of actions above that may constitute sexual harassment is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the ways in which sexual harassment can occur but is merely descriptive of general types of actions that may constitute sexual harassment.

Harassment on the basis of any other protected characteristic protected by federal or state law is strictly prohibited. Under this policy, harassment is verbal, written, or physical conduct that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual because of actual or perceived) race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, gender expression, transgender status, national origin, citizenship, age, disability, genetic information, marital status, amnesty, status as a covered veteran, or any other characteristic. Comments or actions making an individual feel uncomfortable, offended, or threatened may be considered harassing.

Harassing conduct includes-

- Epithets, slurs, or negative stereotyping
- Threatening, intimidating or hostile actions
- Denigrating jokes
- Written or graphic material that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion towards an individual or group and that is placed on:
 - walls or elsewhere on the employer's premises or circulated in the workplace
 - company equipment
 - via email, phone (including voice messages), text messages tweets, blogs, social networking sites
 - any off -site property
 - other means

Again, the list of harassing conduct above is not intended to be an exhaustive list of what may constitute harassing conduct but is merely descriptive of general types of conduct that may harassing conduct.

The prohibition against harassment applies to applicants, employees, suppliers, volunteers, interns, vendors, and anyone working pursuant to a contract.

Human Rights and Working Conditions are vitally important to Trigo. Trigo is committed to responsible corporate practices in the area of human rights and working conditions and aligns with practices recommended by industry standards such as the Global Automotive Sustainability Practical Guidance and the RBA Code of Conduct, which incorporates the International Bill of Human Rights, namely the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948), the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and its two Optional Protocols (1966). Trigo also adheres to the principles set forth in the fundamental ILO Conventions, namely the Forced Labor Convention (1930), the Minimum Age Convention (1973), the Worst Forms of Child Labor Convention (1999) and ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work (1998).

Trigo's human rights expectations apply to all our personnel, business partners and other parties directly linked to our operations, products or services; as such, Trigo is committed to respecting the United Nations Guiding Principles for Business and Human Rights (2011) and its principles within our operations and supply chains. The working conditions of our employees are, at minimum, in compliance with internationally recognized labor standards and the laws of the countries we operate in. When national law directly conflicts with international human rights standards or does not fully comply with them, Trigo will seek ways to respect internationally recognized human rights, such as those enshrined in the conventions mentioned above.

No Child Labor TRIGO will not employ children below the minimum age for employment according to applicable regional law. Furthermore, TRIGO shall ensure that persons under the age of 18 do not perform any offshore duties or undertake any hazardous work that could jeopardize their health or safety, or development, including night shifts and overtime. TRIGO will also ensure that the duty of the young worker does not interfere with their school attendance. "Child labor" means any work by a child or young person, unless it is considered acceptable under the ILO Minimum Age Convention 1973 (C138).

TRIGO supports the use of legitimate workplace learning programs that comply with all laws and regulations, provided that these laws and regulations are aligned with international standards. TRIGO will ensure proper management of student workers through effective maintenance of student records, rigorous due diligence of educational partners, and protection of students' rights in accordance with applicable law and regulations. In any case, appropriate support and training shall be provided to all student workers. In the absence of local law, the wage rate for student workers, interns and apprentices shall be at least the same wage rate as other entry-level workers performing equal or similar tasks.

No Forced Labor or Modern Slavery TRIGO does not tolerate any form of forced labor, including debt bondage, indentured labor, or involuntary prison, nor any involvement in human trafficking in its business activities. This includes transporting, harboring, recruiting, transferring, or receiving persons by means of threat, force, coercion, abduction or fraud for labor or services. TRIGO will not unreasonably restrict workers' freedom of movement throughout company-provided facilities nor unreasonably restrict workers' entering or exiting company-provided facilities.

TRIGO will engage with suppliers to eradicate modern slavery, forced labor and human trafficking in its supply chain.

Prohibition of Human Trafficking Related Activities TRIGO adheres to the provisions of the California Transparency in Supply Chains Act of 2010 and the UK Modern Slavery Act of 2015, and where applicable, to the regulations established under FAR 52.222-50.

Working Conditions Working hours, breaks, holidays and leave periods will be established in compliance with local laws and agreements. In any case, a workweek should not be more than 60 hours per week, including overtime, except in emergency or unusual situations. All overtime shall be voluntary except where overtime is mandatory to meet customer needs. Workers shall be allowed at least one day off every seven days except in situations where a seven-day work week is required to meet customer needs. TRIGO shall ensure that all employees are provided with written agreements of employment and are free to leave their work after giving reasonable notice.

Wages and Benefits Compensation paid to workers shall comply with all applicable wage laws, including those relating to minimum wages, overtime hours and legally mandated benefits. Deductions from wages as a disciplinary measure shall not be permitted. For each pay period, workers shall be provided with a timely and understandable wage statement that includes sufficient information to verify accurate compensation for work performed. All use of temporary, dispatch and outsourced labor will be within the limits of the local law. Imported and migrant workers are to be provided equal wages, benefits and working conditions.

Ethical Recruiting TRIGO commits to hiring practices that are lawful, and that are fair and transparent, and respect human rights. As part of the hiring process, workers will be provided with a written employment agreement in their native language that contains a description of terms and conditions of employment prior to the worker departing from his or her country of origin. All work must be voluntary, and workers shall be free to leave work at any time or terminate their employment. Employers and agents may not hold or otherwise destroy, conceal, confiscate, or deny access by employees to their identity or immigration documents, such as government-issued identification, passports or work permits, unless such holdings are required by law. Workers shall not be required to pay employers' or agents' recruitment fees or other related fees for their employment. If any such fees have been paid by workers, such fees shall be repaid to the worker.

Freedom of Association and Collective Bargaining All workers have the right to form and join trade unions of their own choosing, to bargain collectively and to engage in peaceful assembly. TRIGO will respect the right of workers to refrain from such activities and respect their freedom of opinion and expression.

Additionally, workers and/or their representatives shall be able to openly communicate and share ideas and concerns with management regarding working conditions and management practices, both without fear of discrimination, reprisal, intimidation, or harassment.

Finally, where employees participate in a strike for a lawful object, TRIGO shall not interfere with, impede, or diminish their right to strike, or to affect the limitations or qualifications on that right.

Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment TRIGO ensures equal opportunity for all without discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, race, age, color, disability, ethnic or national origin, sexual orientation, religion, social or marital status, or other status protected by applicable law. TRIGO respects employee's and business partners' freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.

TRIGO does not tolerate any acts of sexual harassment or other forms of discrimination or harsh treatment.

TRIGO encourages all employees and business partners to report and remedy harassing workplace conduct with the goal of eliminating such conduct quickly and effectively, even in cases in which the reported conduct may not be severe and pervasive so as to constitute a violation of federal law. TRIGO has established an Employee Communication Line, which is available for use twenty-four hours per day.

TRIGO is committed to women's rights, gender equality and believes that equal work deserves equal pay.

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion extends far beyond race and gender to include, among other things disability, sexual orientation and much more. It is important to TRIGO because diverse people and diverse ideas drive innovation, help us to achieve business results and realize sustainable growth. Diversity, equity, and inclusion is essential for TRIGO to be successful, and we are committed to promoting an inclusive culture where diversity is valued and celebrated, and where every individual is able to contribute, and reach their full potential. Diversity, equity, and inclusion is encouraged and recognized at all levels of TRIGO, including the communities we serve, in our hiring practices, and in our plans for retaining, developing, and promoting our work force. TRIGO is committed to creating a company culture rooted in acceptance and belonging (Core Values).

Contractor and Supplier Requirements Beyond observing these requirements in its own operations, TRIGO requires that its contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, and their sub-suppliers adhere to the requirements of this Policy.

Failure to adhere to these requirements may result in sanctions, including, but not limited to, termination of agreements with TRIGO.

Relationship to TRIGO’S Code of Conduct and Speak Up Procedure This Policy is intended to supplement and strengthen TRIGO’S commitment to human rights under its existing Code of Conduct and Speak Up Procedure.

All TRIGO employees are offered training annually on the provisions of the Code of Conduct and Speak Up Procedure.

To support compliance with this Policy, TRIGO encourages its employees to report any concerns regarding potential violations of this Policy, or any related law or regulations using the Employee Communication Line which is available for use twenty-four hours per day.

Reports can be made without fear of retaliation and with anonymity.

3.3.2 Bullying and Abusive Conduct

TRIGO defines bullying and abusive conduct as conduct with malice, that a reasonable person would find hostile, offensive, and unrelated to an employer’s legitimate business interests. This may include repeated infliction of verbal abuse, such as the use of derogatory remarks, insults and epithets, verbal or physical conduct that a reasonable person would find threatening, intimidating, or humiliating, or the gratuitous sabotage or undermining of a person’s work performance and can be a single act, or repeated acts of inappropriate, and/or intimidating, behavior, either direct or indirect, whether verbal, physical, or otherwise, conducted by one or more persons against another or others, not limited to a physical work location, and in the course of employment.

Bullying and Abusive Conduct may be intentional or unintentional. However, it must be noted that where an allegation of bullying or abusive conduct occurs, the intention of the alleged bully is irrelevant. As in sexual harassment, it is the effect of the behavior upon the individual that is important. TRIGO considers the following types of behavior examples of bullying and/or abusive conduct:

- Verbal bullying: Slandering, ridiculing or maligning a person or his/her family; persistent name calling that is hurtful insulting or humiliating; using a person as the butt of jokes; abusive and offensive remarks, offensive epithets.
- Physical bullying: Pushing, shoving, kicking, poking, tripping, assault or threat of physical assaults; damage to a person's work area or property.
- Gesture bullying: Nonverbal threatening gestures or glances that convey threatening messages.
- Exclusion: Socially or physically excluding or disregarding a person in work-related activities.
- Malice, that a reasonable person would find hostile, offensive, and unrelated to an employer's legitimate business interests.

3.3.3 Reporting Incidents

Complaints of harassment/ bullying/ abusive conduct will be carefully investigated and addressed. The first step in this process is contacting an appropriate management representative. Individuals who believe they have been the victims of conduct prohibited by this policy or who believe they have witnessed such conduct should discuss their concerns with their department manager, Human Resources or any member of upper management.

Human Resources will conduct an appropriate investigation alone or with another member of management. An investigation normally includes interviews of all relevant person including the complainant, accused, and other witnesses. The investigation will remain as confidential as possible.

If the investigation reveals that the complaint is valid, the employee committing the harassing act(s) will be terminated. If the validity of the complaint cannot be determined, immediate and appropriate action will be taken to assure that all parties are reacquainted with this harassment policy and take whatever other steps are necessary to avoid harassment in the future. If the complaint is determined to be false, the employee filing the complaint will receive appropriate training and/or disciplinary action up to and including termination.

The law (and TRIGO policy) prohibits retaliation against an employee who, in good faith, reports harassment or assists or cooperates in the investigation of a harassment complaint. Those individuals will not be subjected to discipline or retaliation for their cooperation in the investigation or for reporting such. Any threat of retaliation or attempt to do so should be reported immediately.

3.4 DISPUTE AND CONFLICT RESOLUTION AND MANAGEMENT SUPPORT AND INTERVENTION POLICY

TRIGO employs a two (2) step escalation for resolving disputes and conflict within the workplace.

Reporting Dispute/Conflict Resolution:

Step 1: Employees are required to report any conflict, hostility, or undesirable behavior from fellow co-workers, customer employees, or other guests in the facility to their supervisor, manager, or Human Resources immediately in order to ensure the matter can be taken care of swiftly and that we can sustain a positive work environment. A detailed description of the date, time, details of the conversation or behavior, as well as witnesses, if any should be reported as soon as possible.

Step 2: The employee's supervisor together with Human Resources will investigate the dispute/conflict. The investigation process will include interviews of all parties involved including witnesses. Information concerning the status of the investigation, or an action taken as a result of the investigation will not be released to anyone who is not involved. A discussion with the complainant will take place at the conclusion of the investigation.

3.5 TRIGO WORKPLACE VIOLENCE POLICY

All employees, customers, vendors and business associates must be treated with courtesy and respect at all times. You are expected to refrain from conduct that may be dangerous to others. TRIGO views any acts of violence in the workplace as unacceptable. TRIGO has zero tolerance for workplace violence and is committed to preventing such and to responding appropriately if workplace violence does occur.

Workplace violence is any act in which a person is abused, threatened, intimidated, or assaulted in the course of employment. Workplace violence includes threatening behavior, verbal or written threats, bullying, and physical assaults.

Examples include:

- Shaking of fists
- Destroying Property
- Throwing of objects,
- Expression of intent to inflict harm,
- Swearing, insults or condescending language,
- Hitting, shoving, pushing, or kicking,

- Psychological violence,
- Sexual assault
- Arson

Conduct that threatens, intimidates, or coerces applicants, employees, suppliers, volunteers, interns, vendors, and anyone working pursuant to a contract will not be tolerated.

TRIGO resources may not be used to threaten, stalk, or harass anyone at the workplace or outside the workplace. TRIGO treats threats coming from an abusive personal relationship as it does other forms of violence.

Indirect or direct threats of violence, incidents of actual violence and suspicious individuals or activities should be reported as soon as possible to a supervisor, security personnel, Human Resources, or any member of TRIGO's management team. When reporting a threat or incident of violence, you should be as specific and detailed as possible. You should not place yourself in peril, nor should you attempt to intercede during an incident.

You should promptly inform the Human Resource department of any protective or restraining order that you have obtained that lists the workplace as a protected area. You are encouraged to report safety concerns regarding intimate partner violence.

TRIGO will not retaliate against employees making good-faith reports.

TRIGO will promptly and thoroughly investigate all reports of threats of violence or incidents of actual violence and of suspicious individuals or activities. The identity of the individual making a report will be protected as much as possible. In order to maintain workplace safety and the integrity of its investigation, TRIGO may suspend employees suspected of workplace violence or threats of violence, without pay, pending investigation.

Anyone found to be responsible for threats of or actual violence or other conduct that is in violation of these guidelines will be subject to prompt disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

TRIGO encourages employees to bring their disputes to the attention of their supervisors or Human Resources before the situation escalates. We will not discipline employees for raising such concerns.

3.5.1 Active Shooter

An active shooter/hostile intruder is an individual actively engaged in killing or attempting to kill people in a confined and populated area by any means including but not limited to firearms, bladed weapons, vehicles or any tool that in the circumstance in which it is used constitutes deadly physical force. In most cases, there is no pattern or method to their selection of victims. Most active shooter situations are unpredictable, evolve quickly and are over within minutes.

Recommended response:

- EVACUATE (if there is an accessible escape path, attempt to evacuate the premises)
- HIDE (if evacuation is not possible, find a place to hide where the active shooter is less likely to find you)
- FIGHT (as a last resort, and only if your life is in imminent danger, attempt to disrupt and/or incapacitate the active shooter)

3.6 DRUG AND ALCOHOL-FREE WORKPLACE POLICY

TRIGO is committed to providing a safe and productive work environment for all employees. Consistent with this commitment, it is the company's intention to maintain a drug/alcohol-free workplace. Consumption or being under the influence of alcohol, a controlled substance, or illegal drugs while on company or customer property is strictly forbidden. This includes mode of transportation to and from site locations while engaged in the course and scope of employment, during an employee's scheduled shift or lunch break (on or off-site), immediately before coming to the work site and after an employee's shift has ended. The unlawful manufacture, purchase, sale, use, distribution and/or possession of a controlled substance, illegal drugs, (to include possession of drug paraphernalia), are also strictly forbidden. Use of these substances poses a serious threat to the health and safety of all employees.

3.6.1 Post Accident/Injury and Reasonable Cause Drug/Alcohol

In keeping with this policy, If TRIGO has reasonable cause to believe an employee is under the influence of drugs or alcohol while on company or customer property, traveling for company business, or if an employee is involved in an accident or has an injury due to an accident; TRIGO will require the employee to immediately submit to a drug/alcohol test. Any employee who fails or refuses to take a drug/alcohol test will be subject to discipline up to and including termination. If an employee is called during off shift hours to come to work and is under the influence of drugs or alcohol, the employee can and must refuse the assignment. The employee will not be penalized for this. If you are notified that you are on call, however you are expected to refrain from using drugs or alcohol and be available and ready to work.

3.6.2 Drug Tests May Also Be Conducted in Other Scenarios:

- Pre-Employment Testing - Employees may be required to take and pass a drug test prior to employment.
- Random Drug Testing - TRIGO reserves the right to conduct random drug testing at any time during employment, in an effort to maintain a safe workplace for all employees. These tests may be initiated by the company or by customer requests.

3.7 SMOKING POLICY

Smoking is not permitted in any TRIGO facility. Smoking is only permitted outside a TRIGO facility in designated areas or 30 feet from employee entrances if possible. When working at a TRIGO customer facility, facility guidelines must be followed. This policy applies to e-cigarettes and smokeless tobacco. Smoking, e-cigarettes, and smokeless tobacco are not permitted in company vehicles, leased vehicles or rental vehicles.

3.8 BREASTFEEDING/LACTATION POLICY

For up to one year following a child's birth, any employee who is breast feeding their child will be provided reasonable break times as needed to express breast milk for their baby. For specific information on private locations, please speak with your supervisor or a representative of HR. Employees who work off-site will be accommodated with a private area as necessary. Breaks of more than 20 minutes in length will be unpaid. The employee should indicate this break period on the time record.

Any breast milk stored in the refrigerator must be properly labeled with the employee's name. Any nonconforming products stored in the refrigerator may be disposed of. Employees storing milk in the refrigerator assume all responsibility for the safety of the milk and the risk of harm for any reason, including improper storage or refrigeration and tampering.

3.9 WEAPONS IN THE WORKPLACE POLICY

It is against TRIGO company policy to carry a firearm, deadly weapon, or a dangerous ordinance anywhere on TRIGO premises or on any premises you are assigned to work at. Under no circumstances are the following items permitted in company or customer buildings: all types of firearms; switchblades; knives with a blade greater in length than what is allowed per state law; dangerous chemicals; explosives including blasting caps; chains; and other objects that could be used to injure or intimidate. Further, employees in Alabama, Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee and any other state that allows such prohibition, are prohibited from carrying, possessing, or storing any of the above items on their person or in their motor vehicle while on company or customer property.

3.10 DISCIPLINARY POLICY

In order to provide the best possible work environment and to ensure compliance with policies and procedures, TRIGO realizes that it is sometimes necessary to implement disciplinary action. This action may vary depending on the nature of the incident, the employee's history, and other factors.

Discipline may be administered at any time when an incident or pattern of behavior creates a serious concern for the immediate supervisor. If the behavior or issue escalates and becomes disruptive to the site or other employees, the employee may be asked to leave the work site immediately.

Where an investigation may be required, the employee may be transferred or suspended without pay pending an investigation.

Discipline will be administered as soon as possible after the facts giving rise to the discipline become known to the supervisor. TRIGO continues to enforce zero tolerance of behavior that contradicts the TRIGO policies and guidelines, Code of Conduct, site rules, or issues that may expose the customer to risk. Zero tolerance means that issues must be addressed at first occurrence to prevent future problems.

TRIGO utilizes a progressive disciplinary process. The severity and frequency of the concerns or infractions will dictate the level of discipline to be administered. At times, it may be necessary to relocate employees or suspend employees pending investigation into alleged incidents to reduce risk exposure and to avoid future problems.

3.10.1 Progressive Discipline

Discipline may be administered in the form of informal counseling or formal discipline. The first 4 steps are outlined below. The fifth and final step of the Policy results in Termination. Termination must be a result of a formal investigation with HR involvement and approval.

STAGE	HOW DELIVERED	BY WHOM	DOCUMENTATION
Informal Counseling	Verbal communication. The supervisor and the employee discuss the concerns and agree on a corrective action plan, if necessary.	Site Leader or higher position	Note prepared by supervisor stating concern, date of counseling, and corrective action plan. Note to be forwarded to HR for documentation and filing.
Formal Verbal Warning	Verbal communication. Actions giving rise to a verbal warning must be investigated and documented by the immediate supervisor and then brought to the attention of the employee	Site Leader or higher position	Performance Correction Notice (copy to employee, original to HR.)
Formal Written Warning	Written communication. Actions giving rise to a written warning must be investigated and documented by the immediate supervisor and then brought to the attention of the employee.	Site Leader or higher position	Performance Correction Notice (copy to employee, original to HR.)
Final Formal Written Warning	Written communication. If a written warning fails to correct the concern or if the infraction is severe a final written warning will be issued. The employee will be informed that their employment is in jeopardy of being terminated without notice or severance. This must be signed by both parties before the employee is able to return to work.	Site Leader or higher position. A Human Resources Representative must be involved	Performance Correction Notice (copy to employee, original to HR.)

3.10.3 Suspension Pending Completion of Investigation

If the behavior or issue escalates and becomes disruptive to the site or other employees, the employee may be asked to leave the work site immediately. Where an investigation may be required, the employee may be transferred or suspended without pay pending an investigation.

3.10.4 Issues to Be Treated as Cause For Immediate Dismissal

The following conduct, once investigated and proven, may result in termination without notice or severance.

- Falsification or misrepresentation of employment history or documents pertaining to credentials
- Verbal or physical conduct constituting harassment/sexual harassment
- Bullying, Abusive Conduct, Workplace Violence, fighting or threatening/endangering a fellow employee or any person at the site

- Use of, or under the influence of, illegal drugs, controlled substances, or alcohol during work hours or on the work site
- Possession of a firearm, deadly weapon, or dangerous ordinance
- Theft, fraud, or other dishonest conduct
- Sabotage or falsification of inspection data
- Conflict of interest
- Insubordination
- Two (2) no call/no shows (as defined in Section 5 Attendance) with no documentation of a critical medical emergency
- Sleeping on the job or the appearance of such
- Using obscene, abusive language
- Starting or spreading malicious gossip or rumors
- Horse playing, kicking, or throwing parts and/or objects
- Walking off from assigned job (i.e., line critical jobs) or failing to return on time from break or lunch to assigned job (i.e., line critical job) without supervisor approval (applies to Auto US Region 4 sites only)
- Creating or contributing to unsanitary conditions
- Gambling, lotteries, or any other game of chance while on company premises
- Solicitation of other employees, for any reason, during working hours, unless approved in advance by your supervisor
- Willful violation of safety rules and procedures
- Willful neglect and/or mishandling of equipment or machinery
- Unsafe driving of company (owned or rented) or in-plant vehicles
- Indecency
- Poor or careless work

3.11 LEAVES OF ABSENCE POLICY

Employees should refer to their specific Addendum to this Employee Handbook for further details regarding specific policies related to leaves of absences associated with any paid time off they may be eligible for.

3.11.1 Military Leave/USERRA

TRIGO will grant military leaves in compliance with all applicable laws.

Arrangements for military leave and/or National Guard or Reserve Unit training must be made in advance with the employee's manager and include all appropriate documentation.

Military leave will be automatically granted in time of war or emergency to those that enlist or those in the Reserves. Employees and all members covered under their health benefits will have the option to elect continued health coverage for their health benefits during their military leave. The expense of the continued health coverage will be the responsibility of the employee. During military leave, employees are not removed from employment and may not receive pay from civilian employment. Military leaves of absence expire 90 days after the period of duty in the U.S. military and 30 days after National Guard duty.

Employees on military leave will keep full accumulated employment as long as the employee returns to work within the time specified under federal law.

Upon completion of military leave, TRIGO will restore the employee to the position held or to position of like seniority, status and pay, unless TRIGO's circumstances have changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so.

If the employee sustains a disability and cannot perform the job, the employee will be restored to another position that the employee is qualified to perform and that will provide similar seniority, status and pay unless TRIGO's circumstances have changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so.

3.11.2 FMLA

General Provisions: FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks (or up to 26 weeks of military caregiver leave to care for a covered service member with a serious illness or injury) during a 12-month period to eligible employees. The leave may be paid, unpaid or a combination of paid and unpaid leave, depending on the circumstances of the leave and as specified in this policy.

Eligibility: To qualify to take family or medical leave under this policy, the employee must meet all of the following conditions:

1) The employee must have worked for the company for 12 months or 52 weeks. The 12 months or 52 weeks need not have been consecutive. Separate periods of employment will be counted, provided that the break in service does not exceed seven years. Separate periods of employment will be counted if the break in service exceeds seven years due to National Guard or Reserve military service obligations or when there is a written agreement, including a collective bargaining agreement, stating the employer's intention to rehire the employee after the service break. For eligibility purposes, an employee will be considered to have been employed for an entire week even if the employee was on the payroll for only part of a week or if the employee is on leave during the week.

2) The employee must have worked at least 1,250 hours during the 12-month period immediately before the date when the leave is requested to commence. The principles established under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) determine the number of hours worked by an employee. The FLSA does not include time spent on paid or unpaid leave as hours worked. Consequently, these hours of leave should not be counted in determining the 1,250 hours eligibility test for an employee under FMLA.

3) The employee must work in a worksite where 50 or more employees are employed by the company within 75 miles of that office or worksite. The distance is to be calculated by using available transportation by the most direct route.

Type of Leave Covered: To qualify as FMLA leave under this policy, the employee must be taking leave for one of the reasons listed below:

- 1) The birth of a child and in order to care for that child.
- 2) The placement of a child for adoption or foster care and to care for the newly placed child.
- 3) To care for a spouse, child or parent with a serious health condition (described below).

4) The serious health condition (described below) of the employee.

An employee may take leave because of a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the functions of the employee's position.

A serious health condition is defined as a condition that requires inpatient care at a hospital, hospice or residential medical care facility, including any period of incapacity or any subsequent treatment in connection with such inpatient care or a condition that requires continuing care by a licensed health care provider.

This policy covers illnesses of a serious and long-term nature, resulting in recurring or lengthy absences. Generally, a chronic or long-term health condition that would result in a period of three consecutive days of incapacity with the first visit to the health care provider within seven days of the onset of the incapacity and a second visit within 30 days of the incapacity would be considered a serious health condition. For chronic conditions requiring periodic health care visits for treatment, such visits must take place at least twice a year.

If an employee takes paid sick leave for a condition that progresses into a serious health condition and the employee requests unpaid leave as provided under this policy, the company may designate all or some portion of related leave taken as leave under this policy, to the extent that the earlier leave meets the necessary qualifications.

5) Qualifying exigency leave for families of members of the National Guard or Reserves or of a regular component of the Armed Forces when the covered military member is on covered active duty or called to covered active duty.

An employee whose spouse, son, daughter, or parent either has been notified of an impending call or order to covered active military duty or who is already on covered active duty may take up to 12 weeks of leave for reasons related to or affected by the family member's call-up or service. The qualifying exigency must be one of the following: 1) short-notice deployment, 2) military events and activities, 3) child care and school activities, 4) financial and legal arrangements, 5) counseling, 6) rest and recuperation, 7) post-deployment activities and 8) additional activities that arise out of active duty, provided that the employer and employee agree, including agreement on timing and duration of the leave.

“Covered active duty” means:

(a) in the case of a member of a regular component of the Armed Forces, duty during the deployment of the member with the Armed Forces to a foreign country; and

(b) in the case of a member of a reserve component of the Armed Forces, duty during the deployment of the member with the Armed Forces to a foreign country under a call or order to active duty under a provision of law referred to in section 101(a)(13)(B) of title 10, United States Code.

The leave may commence as soon as the individual receives the call-up notice. (Son or daughter for this type of FMLA leave is defined the same as for child for other types of FMLA leave except that the person does not have to be a minor.) This type of leave would be counted toward the employee's 12-week maximum of FMLA leave in a 12-month period.

6) Military caregiver leave (also known as covered service member leave) to care for an injured or ill service member or veteran.

An employee whose son, daughter, parent or next of kin is a covered service member may take up to 26 weeks in a single 12-month period to take care of leave to care for that service member.

Next of kin is defined as the closest blood relative of the injured or recovering service member.

The term “covered service member” means:

- (a) a member of the Armed Forces (including a member of the National Guard or Reserves) who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, is otherwise in outpatient status, or is otherwise on the temporary disability retired list, for a serious injury or illness; or
- (b) a veteran who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, for a serious injury or illness and who was a member of the Armed Forces (including a member of the National Guard or Reserves) at any time during the period of 5 years preceding the date on which the veteran undergoes that medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy.

The term “serious injury or illness”:

- (a) in the case of a member of the Armed Forces (including a member of the National Guard or Reserves), means an injury or illness that was incurred by the member in line of duty on active duty in the Armed Forces (or existed before the beginning of the member’s active duty and was aggravated by service in line of duty on active duty in the Armed Forces) and that may render the member medically unfit to perform the duties of the member’s office, grade, rank, or rating; and
- (b) in the case of a veteran who was a member of the Armed Forces (including a member of the National Guard or Reserves) at any time during a period when the person was a covered service member, means a qualifying (as defined by the Secretary of Labor) injury or illness that was incurred by the member in line of duty on an active duty in the Armed Forces (or existed before the beginning of the member’s active duty and was aggravated by service in line of duty on active duty in the Armed Forces) and that manifested itself before or after the member became a veteran.

Amount of Leave: An eligible employee can take up to 12 weeks for the FMLA circumstances (1) through (5) above under this policy during any 12-month period. The company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date an employee uses any leave under this policy. Each time an employee takes leave, the company will compute the amount of leave the employee has taken under this policy in the last 12 months and subtract it from the 12 weeks of available leave, and the balance remaining is the amount the employee is entitled to take at that time.

An eligible employee can take up to 26 weeks for the FMLA circumstance (6) above (military caregiver leave) during a single 12-month period. For this military caregiver leave, the company will measure the 12-month period as a rolling 12-month period measured forward. FMLA leave already taken for other FMLA circumstances will be deducted from the total of 26 weeks available.

If a husband and wife both work for the company and each wishes to take leave for the birth of a child, adoption or placement of a child in foster care, or to care for a parent (but not a parent "in-law") with a serious health condition, the husband and wife may only take a combined total of 12 weeks of leave. If a husband and wife both work for the company and each wishes to take leave to care for a covered injured or ill service member, the husband and wife may only take a combined total of 26 weeks of leave.

Employee Status and Benefits During Leave: While an employee is on leave, the company will continue the employee's health benefits during the leave period at the same level and under the same conditions as if the employee had continued to work. If the employee chooses not to return to work for reasons other than a continued serious health condition of the employee or the employee's family member or a circumstance beyond the employee's control, the company will require the employee to reimburse the company the amount it paid for the employee's health insurance premium during the leave period.

Under current company policy, the employee pays a portion of the health care premium. While on paid leave, the employer will continue to make payroll deductions to collect the employee's share of the premium. While on unpaid leave, the employee must continue to make this payment, either in person or by mail. The payment must be received in the HR Department on a biweekly basis. If the payment is more than 30 days late, the employee's health care coverage may be dropped for the duration of the leave. The employer will provide 15 days' notification prior to the employee's loss of coverage.

If the employee contributes to a life insurance or disability plan, the employer will continue making payroll deductions while the employee is on paid leave. While the employee is on unpaid leave, the employee may request continuation of such benefits and pay his or her portion of the premiums, or the employer may elect to maintain such benefits during the leave and pay the employee's share of the premium payments. If the employee does not continue these payments, the employer may discontinue coverage during the leave. If the employer maintains coverage, the employer may recover the costs incurred for paying the employee's share of any premiums, whether or not the employee returns to work.

Employee Status After Leave: An employee who takes leave under this policy may be asked to provide a fitness for duty (FFD) clearance from the health care provider. This requirement will be included in the employer's response to the FMLA request. Generally, an employee who takes FMLA leave will be able to return to the same position or a position with equivalent status, pay, benefits and other employment terms. The position will be the same or one which is virtually identical in terms of pay, benefits and working conditions. The company may choose to exempt certain key employees from this requirement and not return them to the same or similar position.

Use of Paid and Unpaid Leave: An employee who is taking FMLA leave because of the employee's own serious health condition or the serious health condition of a family member must use all paid vacation, personal, sick, or any other available time off leave (i.e. disability) prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. Sick leave may run concurrently with FMLA leave if the reason for the FMLA leave is covered by the established sick leave policy. Use of sick leave or other PTO not yet accrued requires the approval of the HR Department. If sick leave or other PTO is exhausted, vacation leave, if available may be used. Use of vacation leave not yet accrued requires the approval of the HR Department. If both sick leave and vacation leave are exhausted, the employee will be required to take unpaid leave.

Disability leave for the birth of the child and for an employee's serious health condition, including workers' compensation leave (to the extent that it qualifies), will be designated as FMLA leave and will run concurrently with FMLA. For example, if an employer provides six weeks of pregnancy disability leave, the six weeks will be designated as FMLA leave and counted toward the employee's 12-week entitlement. The employee may then be required to substitute accrued (or earned) paid leave as appropriate before being eligible for unpaid leave for what remains of the 12-week entitlement. An employee who is taking leave for the adoption or foster care of a child must use all paid vacation, personal or family leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

An employee who is using military FMLA leave for a qualifying exigency must use all paid vacation and personal leave prior to being eligible for unpaid leave. An employee using FMLA military caregiver leave must also use all paid vacation, personal leave or sick leave (as long as the reason for the absence is covered by the company's sick leave policy) prior to being eligible for unpaid leave.

Intermittent Leave or a Reduced Work Schedule: The employee may take FMLA leave in 12 consecutive weeks, may use the leave intermittently (take a day periodically when needed over the year) or, under certain circumstances, may use the leave to reduce the workweek or workday, resulting in a reduced hour schedule. In all cases, the leave may not exceed a total of 12 workweeks (or 26 workweeks to care for an injured or ill service member over a 12-month period).

The company may temporarily transfer an employee to an available alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits if the alternative position would better accommodate the intermittent or reduced schedule, in instances of when leave for the employee or employee's family member is foreseeable and for planned medical treatment, including recovery from a serious health condition or to care for a child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care.

For the birth, adoption or foster care of a child, the company and the employee must mutually agree to the schedule before the employee may take the leave intermittently or work a reduced hour schedule. Leave for birth, adoption or foster care of a child must be taken within one year of the birth or placement of the child.

If the employee is taking leave for a serious health condition or because of the serious health condition of a family member, the employee should try to reach agreement with the company before taking intermittent leave or working a reduced hour schedule. If this is not possible, then the employee must prove that the use of the leave is medically necessary.

Certification for the Employee's Serious Health Condition: The company will require certification for the employee's serious health condition. The employee must respond to such a request within 15 days of the request or provide a reasonable explanation for the delay. Failure to provide certification may result in a denial of continuation of leave. Medical certification will be provided using the DOL Certification of Health Care Provider for Employee's Serious Health Condition (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/forms/WH-380-E.pdf>).

The company may directly contact the employee's health care provider for verification or clarification purposes using a health care professional, an HR professional, leave administrator or management official. The company will not use the employee's direct supervisor for this contact. Before the company makes this direct contact with the health care provider, the employee will be given an opportunity to resolve any deficiencies in the medical certification. In compliance with HIPAA Medical Privacy Rules, the company will obtain the employee's permission for clarification of individually identifiable health information.

The company has the right to ask for a second opinion if it has reason to doubt the certification. The company will pay for the employee to get a certification from a second doctor, which the company will select. The company may deny FMLA leave to an employee who refuses to release relevant medical records to the health care provider designated to provide a second or third opinion. If necessary, to resolve a conflict between the original certification and the second opinion, the company will require the opinion of a third doctor. The company and the employee will mutually select the third doctor, and the company will pay for the opinion. This third opinion will be considered final. The employee will be provisionally entitled to leave and benefits under the FMLA pending the second and/or third opinion.

Certification for the Family Member's Serious Health Condition: The company will require certification for the family member's serious health condition. The employee must respond to such a request within 15 days of the request or provide a reasonable explanation for the delay. Failure to provide certification may result in a denial of continuation of leave. Medical certification will be provided using the DOL Certification of Health Care Provider for Family Member's Serious Health Condition (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/forms/WH-380-F.pdf>).

The company may directly contact the employee's family member's health care provider for verification or clarification purposes using a health care professional, an HR professional, leave administrator or management official. The company will not use the employee's direct supervisor for this contact. Before the company makes this direct contact with the health care provider, the employee will be given an opportunity to resolve any deficiencies in the medical certification. In compliance with HIPAA Medical Privacy Rules, the company will obtain the employee's family member's permission for clarification of individually identifiable health information.

The company has the right to ask for a second opinion if it has reason to doubt the certification. The company will pay for the employee's family member to get a certification from a second doctor, which the company will select. The company may deny FMLA leave to an employee whose family member refuses to release relevant medical records to the health care provider designated to provide a second or third opinion. If necessary, to resolve a conflict between the original certification and the second opinion, the company will require the opinion of a third doctor. The company and the employee will mutually select the third doctor, and the company will pay for the opinion. This third opinion will be considered final. The employee will be provisionally entitled to leave and benefits under the FMLA pending the second and/or third opinion.

Certification of Qualifying Exigency for Military Family Leave: The company will require certification of the qualifying exigency for military family leave. The employee must respond to such a request within 15 days of the request or provide a reasonable explanation for the delay. Failure to provide certification may result in a denial of continuation of leave. This certification will be provided using the DOL Certification of Qualifying Exigency for Military Family Leave (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/forms/WH-384.pdf>).

Certification of Qualifying Exigency for Military Family Leave: The company will require certification of the qualifying exigency for military family leave. The employee must respond to such a request within 15 days of the request or provide a reasonable explanation for the delay. Failure to provide certification may result in a denial of continuation of leave. This certification will be provided using the DOL Certification of Qualifying Exigency for Military Family Leave (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/forms/WH-384.pdf>).

Recertification: The company may request recertification for the serious health condition of the employee or the employee's family member no more frequently than every 30 days and only when circumstances have changed significantly, or if the employer receives information casting doubt on the reason given for the absence, or if the employee seeks an extension of his or her leave. Otherwise, the company may request recertification for the serious health condition of the employee or the employee's family member every six months in connection with an FMLA absence. The company may provide the employee's health care provider with the employee's attendance records and ask whether need for leave is consistent with the employee's serious health condition.

Procedure for Requesting FMLA Leave: All employees requesting FMLA leave must provide verbal or written notice of the need for the leave to the HR manager. Within five business days after the employee has provided this notice, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with the DOL Notice of Eligibility and Rights (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/fmla/finalrule/WH381.pdf>). When the need for the leave is foreseeable, the employee must provide the employer with at least 30 days' notice. When an employee becomes aware of a need for FMLA leave less than 30 days in advance, the employee must provide notice of the need for the leave either the same day or the next business day. When the need for FMLA leave is not foreseeable, the employee must comply with the company's usual and customary notice and procedural requirements for requesting leave, absent unusual circumstances.

Designation of FMLA Leave: Within five business days after the employee has submitted the appropriate certification form, the HR manager will complete and provide the employee with a written response to the employee's request for FMLA leave using the DOL Designation Notice (<http://www.dol.gov/esa/whd/forms/WH-382.pdf>).

Intent to Return to Work from FMLA Leave: On a basis that does not discriminate against employees on FMLA leave, the company may require an employee on FMLA leave to report periodically on the employee's status and intent to return to work. For additional information, see the Notice of Employee Rights and Responsibilities that you can request from your HR representative.

3.11.3 Special Leaves of Absence: Bereavement, Jury Duty/Court Attendance/Requests for Personal Leave

Bereavement

TRIGO will grant time for bereavement leave. Please check with your HR Department for details or refer to your specific Addendum to this Employee Handbook for additional information.

The employee is required to notify HR or their manager that they have had a death in the family. HR or the manager will verify that the employee is listed as an immediate family member. Documentation may be required while taking leave (i.e. obituary, program of service, etc.)

Jury Duty/Court Attendance

An employee who is summoned for jury duty, or as a court witness, shall be granted Jury Leave or Court Attendance Leave with or without pay depending on the state's requirement and length of jury duty service. If the Jury Duty or Court Attendance Leave is with pay, the employee shall submit a certified statement of fees paid by the court. Such fees shall be deducted from the employee's regular base salary.

Requests for Personal Leave

Requests for Personal Leave will be judged on their merit, by the manager, having regard for individual circumstances, such as, the purpose of the leave, the performance and length of service of the employee, the frequency of such requests, and the impact of the employee's absence on operations. Such time off, if granted shall be without pay. The manager prior to responding the Request for Personal Leave, will consult with Human Resources, for guidance in order that consistent and fair treatment of all employees may be assured.

This policy applies to leaves less than or equal to 12 calendar weeks. Any request for personal leave greater than 12 weeks will be considered on an individual bases with HR approving.

An employee who requests and/or obtains a personal leave of absence under false pretenses or uses the personal leave of absence for purposes other than that for which it was obtained shall be subject to immediate disciplinary action up to and including termination.

3.12 PERSONNEL RECORDS POLICY

TRIGO maintains a confidential personnel file on each employee. This file may include such information as the employee's job application, tax information, records of job training, performance appraisals, and other employment records.

It is important that our personnel records contain accurate and up-to-date information about all employees. This information has a direct bearing on the amount of your payroll deduction for Federal Withholding Tax. Any change in your telephone number and/or address should be reported as soon as possible.

If you wish to inspect your personnel file, you should notify your supervisor. A time will be set up for you to review your file, except potential salary changes, personnel planning data, records involving a complaint or formal grievance until the issue is resolved, security records and information in your file which concerns another employee.

TRIGO adheres to a Confidentiality Policy and releases information only at your request (in writing) or as required by law.

4. GENERAL INFORMATION

4.1 COMMUNICATION POLICY

4.1.1 Frequency

TRIGO Operations Representatives must communicate with TRIGO Office regularly. This is especially important in the initial start-up of new projects until the relationships and procedures are clearly established. During the first weeks of a new project, you must call the Manager in charge of the project daily or as required by your manager to report the activity, even if it is to report no new activity. This is imperative for two reasons:

- TRIGO must be kept informed about the project in order to respond to any questions from the customer.
- Communication into the plant is often difficult and information may need to be given to you.

4.1.2 Customer Communication

TRIGO employees should not offer any unsolicited opinions, comments or advice to the customer regarding their processes. If asked for observations or input related to the part being inspected, feel free to offer anything that may be helpful.

TRIGO's role is to be unobtrusive to the customer's everyday production. This means that we are not permitted to direct or question the customer's employees or interfere in any way that will deter them in the performance of their assigned tasks. We are not involved in, nor do we need to be privy to the entire operation, only what is relevant to our inspection.

4.1.3 SMS Text Messaging

Certain TRIGO sites use an SMS Text Messaging system for employee communication. You will be notified if your site is one that requires this. We use this system for the following reasons:

- in the event of emergencies
- for information that needs to be presented to all employees in a consistent format
- when we have process, policy, and/or procedure changes
- when we need time-sensitive information from an employee
- when we have important company news.

This system is controlled and carefully monitored. We respect employee/associate privacy and personal boundaries. This system is not designed to be used for social communication or for non-relevant information.

This is an excellent tool to make sure everyone receives information in a consistent and timely manner. We encourage you to read the messages as they are sent. You will receive these notifications on your personal phone. Should you choose not to receive these notifications, you will be required to sign a form indicating you have opted out of the system.

If you have any questions about this messaging system, our use of the system, or this policy, please contact the HR Department.

4.2 CELL PHONE COMMUNICATION AND USE POLICY

4.2.1 Care and Responsibility of Cell Phone and Accessories

Cell phones, hot spots and accessories that are issued to employees are property of TRIGO. It is your responsibility to keep these items in good working condition. Damaged, lost or stolen TRIGO cell phones, hot spots and accessories must be reported immediately to the employee's supervisor. The employee agrees by signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook that they may be held responsible for the replacement of the cell phone, hot spot and accessories if it is determined that they are responsible for the loss or damage and that the cost will be deducted from their pay, and that they understand that while these items can be also be used for personal use excessive minutes/data usage for personal reasons may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. Employee further understands that upon termination, he or she will return this TRIGO cell phone with all accessories and they will be returned in proper working order and with no damage other than what has been reported. By signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook, employee understands and agrees that failure to return the TRIGO cell phone with accessories or failure to return them in proper working order or with unreported damage may result in a deduction from their last paycheck.

4.2.2 Assignment, Accessibility, Monitoring of Cellular Phones

Cellular phones and accessories are assigned to TRIGO employees who must remain accessible due to the nature of their job and/or must be available in the event of an emergency. Employees are expected to keep their TRIGO cell phone turned on during the times agreed with their supervisor. TRIGO reserves the right to monitor the use of all TRIGO owned cell phones. Any communications which violate applicable laws and regulations is forbidden.

Employees are not allowed to access or download online features such as ringtones, etc... that would result in extra charges.

4.2.3 Driving with Cell Phones

The use of cellular phones while driving is strictly prohibited without the proper use of approved “hands free” or Bluetooth hand-held devices (cell phone/smart phone/GPS). Purchasing and approval of these devices must be pre-approved.

4.2.4 Safety and Cell Phones, Electronic Devices, Headphones, and Ear Buds

Cell phones, electronic devices and any type of headphones or ear buds can be a Safety Hazard. The use of these items while sitting, standing, or walking can impair your ability to hear forklift traffic, others approaching and are cause for many other safety concerns. Therefore, disciplinary action may occur if employees use these items during work hours.

4.2.5 Personal Use, Picture Taking, and Video Recording

The use of electronic devices (to include picture taking, video recordings, etc.)-during work hours at any TRIGO worksite is strictly forbidden unless permitted by a Supervisor/Manager. These items include personal Cell Phones, iPod, MP3 Players, Tablets and any type of Headphones or Ear Buds. You are permitted to keep your electronic device on your person on silent mode and only use these devices during lunch or breaks if you are away from the work area and in a suitable place, such as a cafeteria or outdoors. Please make sure you verify that the facility you are working in allows the use of cell phones and or electronic devices. If you know that you may need to use your cell phone during business hours for emergency purposes, you must inform your Supervisor/Manager of the situation at the beginning of your shift and move to the appropriate location to use the device if approved to do so.

If you are off-site and your Supervisor/Manager are not able to give you a Company phone and have asked you to keep in contact with them throughout the day, then you will have the option to use your personal cell phone for business purposes.

Business related calls on personal cell phones can only be expensed if detailed billing receipts are provided and approval to the expense costs are approved by a Supervisor/Manager prior to use.

4.3 INFORMATION SECURITY POLICY, IT AND INFORMATION SECURITY CHARTER, IT ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE POLICY AND COMPUTER POLICY

As outlined in the TRIGO Group Information Security Policy, TRIGO is aware that information processing is key to deliver its services and that the security and protection of collected, handled and shared information must be maintained. Please refer to this Policy and TRIGO's IT Artificial Intelligence Policy for detailed information on TRIGO's commitment to a secure environment and your responsibility to this commitment . If you have access and are using information or IT Systems held by TRIGO as a requirement of your current role, please refer to the TRIGO Group IT and Information Security Charter for additional information regarding your responsibility to TRIGO's commitment to a secure environment.

TRIGO equipment and services are to be used primarily for TRIGO business purposes. Employees are responsible for damage, loss, or theft of assigned equipment.

4.3.1 Computer Policy and Acknowledgement

When an employee is issued a TRIGO computer, accessories, and hot spots, the employee is responsible for the care of such objects. In the event that the computer, accessories, or hot spots are lost or damaged due to negligence, the employee agrees by signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook, that the replacement costs will be deducted from the next paycheck. In addition, by signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook, employee agrees that the use of the TRIGO issued computer and hot spot is for work purposes only and not for personal use, and that immediately upon termination the computer, accessories, and hot spot are to be returned in proper working order. Failure to do so may result in a deduction from the last paycheck.

Any violation of the IT and Computer policy may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination

4.3.2 IT Services using Helpdesk Ticketing System:

All users are required to submit all requests for IT Services using Helpdesk Ticketing system. Requested services would include:

- General help and problem resolution training
- Software and hardware requirements (new or upgrades)
- System and/or programming changes or enhancements
- Developer Support ("bug" resolution, functionality anomalies)
- New employee setup / Employee termination

4.3.3 Hours of Support Coverage

General core hours of coverage – 8:00 am to 5:00 pm Monday to Friday.

Extended coverage – 7:00 am to 11:00 pm Monday to Friday. Only critical support calls are to be placed outside of the “core” hours of 8am to 5pm.

4.3.4 Service Levels:

Critical Priority outages or system failures – 2 hours or less – highest priority

High Priority problems or requests – 1 business day

4.3.5 Email Communications

Email communication instructions are dictated by the Marketing Department. Please follow the approved look for signatures and update accordingly.

4.3.6 Employee Setup and Termination

Upon Hire or status change: It is the responsibility of the HR department or departmental Managers to notify IT with all employee movement using IT Helpdesk Ticketing system. All new employees or those with a status change must be communicated to IT in order for the appropriate actions to be completed in a timely manner.

Upon termination: User’s Manager will be responsible to communicate to IT in order for appropriate actions to be completed in a timely manner. Manager will also be responsible to collect all the devices (Computer, Cell Phone, Internet Sticks etc.) and making it available to IT for backup (can be done remotely if needed).

- If requested User’s email will be kept for maximum 30 days (a backup copy of the user’s emails and documents can be provided to the Manager)

4.3.7 Security

Two levels of network security exist in our environment. The IT team will manage windows network security ID’s and passwords as well as application software ID’s and passwords. Typically, the security level for a new user is duplicated from an existing user with the same job functions.

- Network/application account usernames and passwords are provided only to the user. It is the responsibility of each user to keep this information secure.
- Use of any computer or phone to which employee was not assigned, without proper authorization, is strictly forbidden

- User accounts for specific applications, including ETRIGO, TRIGO, Intranet, NAVISION, UKG, EMAIL, and Yard Scanning Application, are created using tools and procedures provided by the software vendors. The security access is granted according to the job functions of the user.

Monthly user and computer lists are provided to department managers to keep these accounts updated.

4.3.8 Back Up and Recovery

- All central servers are backed up by IT department or hosting providers.
- Users are responsible to back up all the business documents on the H:\ Drive. In case of a local hardware failure only the documents backed up on H:\ Drive can be restored.

4.3.9 Preventative Maintenance

System performance and disk space usage on Microsoft Windows Servers are reviewed on an “as required” basis or when symptoms of space or performance problems become evident in an application.

The Microsoft SQL Server databases are reviewed as required to ensure there is adequate free space for transactions. If necessary, additional disk space is added to the databases according to database vendor procedures.

The telephone system and voicemail system are supported and maintained by a 3rd party supplier, under a maintenance agreement with no specific preventative maintenance activities.

Networking equipment is checked periodically or when a symptom of a wproblem is encountered.

4.3.10 Internet and Email Usage

The internet and Email are to be used strictly for business purposes. Internet and Email usage is monitored, and any inappropriate usage will be considered for disciplinary action.

4.3.11 Computer Viruses

The IT Department shall install and maintain appropriate anti-virus software on all computers and respond to all virus attacks, destroy any virus detected, and document each incident. Employees should report any virus detections to IT by submitting a helpdesk ticket.

4.3.12 Copyright and Intellectual Property

Employees using the internet are not permitted to copy, transfer, rename, add, or delete information, programs, or intellectual property belonging to others unless given express written permission to do so by the owner. Articles falling into this category may include works of art, music, movies, video, written text, software and proprietary information that may or may not be labeled as protected. Failure to observe copywrite or license agreements may result in disciplinary action by the company and/or legal action by the copywrite owner against the company.

4.4 DRESS CODE AND PERSONAL HYGIENE POLICY

TRIGO employees should dress and groom themselves according to the requirements of their position, the requirements of the site and accepted social standards. Business Casual is the attire for TRIGO offices. The Dress Code Policy gives employees the flexibility to dress based on internal and external meetings, client interaction, schedule and what they need to accomplish on that given day. Some days this may mean a more casual attire and other days a more business casual attire.

All employees are expected to maintain a high level of personal hygiene at all times. If a supervisor/manager feels an employee's personal appearance or hygiene is inappropriate, they may be asked to leave the workplace until they are properly dressed or groomed. Under such circumstances, employees will not be compensated for the time away from work.

Employees are encouraged to consult their supervisor/manager if they have questions as to what constitutes appropriate appearance and acceptable hygiene. Where required, reasonable accommodation will be made for a person with a disability or religious restrictions on dress.

Without unduly restricting individual tastes, the following personal appearance guidelines should be followed by all employees (except where indicated):

- Jeans are permitted in certain sites as long as during any given day customers/clients are not scheduled to be on site. When customers are scheduled to be present, normal business casual attire is required.
- Jeans must be clean and neat with no tears or holes. Jeans should not be faded and should sit on the waist.
- Uniform style work pants are required at some sites. These pants must either be khaki, black, navy, or gray depending on the site you are assigned to.

- Certain sites also require mutilation compliant attire
- All TRIGO inspectors must wear a TRIGO apron, TRIGO safety vest or a solid color white, navy, gray, royal blue or black T-shirt except in special cases where safety may be an issue, or the customer does not wish to segregate TRIGO inspectors.
- Certain sites are required to wear TRIGO logo shirts. If a long sleeve shirt is worn underneath the TRIGO logo shirt, the long sleeve shirt must be either white, navy, gray, royal blue or black.
- Certain sites require T-shirts or Shirts to be tucked into pants while on the job
- Employees in leadership roles who have direct contact with a Customer must wear a TRIGO logo shirt. TRIGO may provide employees an initial number of shirts (i.e., 5 upon hire), and an allowance for future needs may be granted on an employee's anniversary date (i.e., 3 annually).
- Sweatpants, tear-a-ways, pajama bottoms, athletic wear and shorts are not permitted on any day. (Exception: For those locations where customer guidelines allow for such apparel due to hot weather conditions, customer guidelines can be adhered to).
- Shoes must provide safe, secure footing, closed toe, and offer protection against hazards whether in an office environment or on the inspection floor. Shoes must provide proper protection for your environment.
- Certain sites require that shoes be protective-toe, mutilation compliant, and ESD compliant. ESD inserts are permitted. Checks may be conducted to verify use of inserts.
- Appropriate open-toed shoes are permitted in the office environment (no flip flops or beach attire shoes).
- Proper Personal Protective Equipment (safety shoes, gloves, hearing protection, etc.) must be worn as required by assignment and customer plant rules. TRIGO requires that all employees wear eye protection in inspection areas.
- Crop, tank, tube and halter tops may not be worn under any circumstances. Sleeveless shirts are not permitted for inspectors due to safety concerns.
- Mustaches and beards must be clean, well-trimmed, and neat.
- Hairstyles are expected to be in good taste.
- Perfume, cologne, and aftershave lotion should be used moderately or avoided altogether, as some individuals may be sensitive or allergic to strong fragrances.
- Jewelry should not be functionally restrictive, dangerous to job performance, or excessive.

- Excessive body piercing (face, head, and torso) with visible jewelry or jewelry that can be seen through or under clothing must not be worn during working hours.
- Visible excessive tattoos and similar body art must be covered during business hours.
- Hats or clothes with offensive slogans or pictures are not permitted.
- Certain sites may also allow customer hats or TRIGO hats.
- Certain sites may require fingernails be kept at a certain length and may prohibit the use of metal (or other) embellishments.
- Certain sites may prohibit the use of beanies, or hair caps.

4.5 REMOTE WORKER POLICY

Eligibility

Remote workers are defined as either:

- Employees Designated by TRIGO as a Remote Worker - Employees that work outside of TRIGO's traditional office environment and classified as remote upon hire.
- Employees not Designated by TRIGO as a Remote Worker - Employees that were not classified as remote upon hire but request to work from home (either full-time or part-time) and meet all or some of the following conditions:
 - Position, function and duties can be effectively managed in either a full-time or part-time work arrangement,
 - Reside more than 80 km/50 miles one way from the office,
 - Have a proven record of productivity and no performance concerns,
 - Have a designated workspace which is not a shared space (see Equipment & Work Environment Section below for more details),
 - Have full office capabilities to perform their duties from home (see Equipment & Work Environment Section below for more details),

In addition, temporary arrangements may be approved for circumstances such as inclement weather, special projects, business travel or other unexpected scenarios. These arrangements are approved on an as-needed basis only, with no expectation of ongoing continuance. All temporary arrangements are made on a case-by-case basis, focusing first on the business needs of the organization.

Approval Process

- The employee's Manager and Senior Management must provide approval.
- All remote worker arrangements are to be reviewed by the employee's Manager on a quarterly basis.

Expectations

Remote employee's place of residence is considered their office. This means that during the workday or work period, the employee is expected to be in their office unless traveling to/from or conducting TRIGO business-related activities. Working from an outside location is not acceptable unless prior approval to do so has been granted.

TRIGO expects the employee to maintain normal office hours according to the position. This schedule will allow for mandatory breaks according to all federal, state and provincial laws. TRIGO emphasizes the importance of maintaining a healthy work-life balance. However, answering phone calls, emails, and other communications outside of normal office or business hours may be required to meet business or customer needs. Working from home is not designed to be a replacement for childcare although an employee's schedule may be modified to accommodate childcare needs (i.e., drop off and pick up times), if approved by the employee's Manager.

Equipment & Work Environment

On a case-by-case basis, TRIGO will determine, with information supplied by the employee and the employee's Manager, the appropriate equipment needs (including hardware, software, modems, phone and data lines and other office equipment) for each arrangement.

- Equipment (with the exception of a computer and cell phone (if applicable)) may be supplied by the organization to employees designated by TRIGO as a remote worker. The equipment that is supplied by the organization will be maintained by the organization. Equipment supplied by the organization is to be used for business purposes only.
- Equipment (with the exception of a computer and cell phone (if applicable)) will be supplied by the employee if the employee was not designated by TRIGO as a remote worker upon hire but met the conditions noted above and received approval to participate in a work from home arrangement. Equipment supplied by the employee will be maintained by the employee. TRIGO accepts no responsibility for damage or repairs to employee-owned equipment.

Upon termination of employment, all company property must be returned to the company, unless other arrangements have been made and noted in writing.

TRIGO may supply the employee with appropriate office supplies (pens, paper, etc.) as deemed necessary. TRIGO will reimburse the employee for business-related expenses, such as shipping costs, that are reasonably incurred in carrying out the employee's job. The employee will establish an appropriate work environment within his or her home for work purposes to include a non-shared dedicated home workspace (i.e., office, spare room, etc.) TRIGO will not be responsible for costs associated with the setup of the employee's home office, such as remodeling, furniture or lighting, nor for repairs or modifications to the home office space.

Security

Consistent with the organization's expectations of information security for employees working at the office, employees will be expected to ensure the protection of proprietary company and customer information accessible from their home office. Steps include the use of locked file cabinets and desks, regular password maintenance, and any other measures appropriate for the job, and the environment such as using a secure network and securing your computer.

Safety

Employees are expected to maintain their home workspace in a safe manner, free from safety hazards. Injuries sustained by the employee in a home office location and in conjunction with his or her regular work duties are normally covered by the company's workers' compensation policy. Remote employees are responsible for notifying the employer of such injuries as soon as practicable. The employee is liable for any injuries sustained by visitors to his or her home worksite.

Compliance with Policies and Benefits

Remote employees are expected to follow all TRIGO company policies.

4.6 TRIGO AMERICAS TRAVEL POLICY AND TRAVEL INCIDENTALS AGREEMENT

It is the policy of TRIGO Americas to arrange and pay for travel that is necessary for the completion of projects, new facility start-ups, off-site management meetings, sales calls and any other travel that is deemed necessary to complete TRIGO business. Travel arrangements will be reasonable and comfortable and at the lowest price possible.

General Guidelines

Employees not authorized to arrange their own travel must follow the request process as outlined in this policy. Employees who are authorized to arrange travel are expected to use good judgment when making arrangements. All efforts must be made to keep travel costs to a minimum.

Employees will be responsible for any charges incurred as a result from not following policy guidelines, as allowed by law. (i.e. if an employee stays at an unapproved hotel, he or she will be responsible for the difference in cost between the approved and the unapproved hotel rate.)

Travel Requests and Approvals

The General Managers of each Business Unit within TRIGO Americas, will authorize individuals to book travel for themselves and/or other people. Any TRIGO business travel that is booked by unauthorized individuals may result in non-reimbursement of travel expenses and/or corrective actions.

Requests for Travel must be submitted through the proper channels to the TRIGO Travel Department if travel is being arranged on behalf of an individual.

Travel Definitions

Billable Travel is any TRIGO approved travel that is being charged directly to the customer with a percent markup added to TRIGO costs. Non-billable Travel is TRIGO travel that is not able to be billed back by a customer. All non-billable trips which will total over $500 must be pre-approved by the General Manager prior to booking.

Air Travel

Air Travel should be planned in a timely manner to incur the least cost. All flights should be based on coach/economy class and the least expensive option available for the dates of the travel, keeping in mind layovers, unless otherwise specified or approved by the EVP of Americas.

Flight Changes or Cancellation

In the event that a flight needs to be cancelled after ticket purchase, please notify the TRIGO Travel Department as soon as possible to avoid being charged cancellation fees. Changes in flight plans must be approved by the supervisor and must be due to business purpose. For this reason, we ask that employees do their part to keep airfare expenses to a minimum by:

- Only booking flights once all appointments are in place and there is little chance of schedule changes that would affect flight dates and times
- Giving as much notice as possible when requesting flights; this allows for more flight options and more time to search for the best price
- Adjusting travel schedules so as not to fly during “peak” flight days and times

Accommodations

The average cost per night at a hotel must be under $120 unless otherwise specified or approved by the EVP of Americas. As this is not always possible, approval must be made before booking an out of policy hotel. TRIGO, as well as our customers, have negotiated rates with hotels in each area. Check with the customer and/or TRIGO Travel Department to find out which hotels in a certain area may have negotiated rates.

Hotel reservations are guaranteed for late arrival. If cancellation is necessary, it must be communicated to the hotel/TRIGO Travel Department as soon as possible to avoid being charged for the full rate of the room. Travelers will be held responsible for “no show” charges unless there is sufficient proof that it was beyond the employee’s ability to cancel the reservation.

Charges for additional people, videos, room service, alcohol or any other incidentals incurred including charges for violation of hotel or rental car rules are NOT allowed. Such charges should be paid at the hotel upon check out. Any outstanding charges will be deducted from your expense report or from future paychecks as allowed by law.

Rental Cars

A mid-size car may be rented if necessary. Car rentals should be arranged through TRIGO’s corporate account. If employees are required to make these arrangements themselves, rental charges will be reimbursed with the appropriate receipts. Employees are expected to return rental vehicles at the same level of fuel in which it was received. All employees driving on TRIGO business must have a valid driver’s license. In addition, TRIGO reserves the right to review the MVR (Motor vehicle record) for any employee that may drive a TRIGO fleet vehicle or rent a vehicle for TRIGO business purposes.

Mileage Reimbursement

For long distance travel (not daily travel), employees may choose to use their personal vehicle only when the trip will total 500 miles or less, unless approved by the General Manager. In this case, the employee will be reimbursed for mileage and vehicle wear and tear. The employees must track the miles traveled and turn in an Expense Report with this information in order to receive reimbursement.

Meal Allowance

Employees traveling will receive $40 per diem ($20 on travel days if travel is over 4 hours but less than 8 hours) paid in the currency of the country where the work is performed, or they will be required to submit Expense Reports (including receipts) to the assigning manager. Per diem will be paid for each full day the employee is required to be away from home overnight. If the employee does not work their scheduled shift due to reasons unrelated to lack of work, and if there is no proof of an emergency situation for the call off, per diem for that day may not be paid

Home Visits

Home visits will be determined by the assigning manager in advance of travel and will be based on duration and distance of the travel.

Clothes Laundry/Dry Cleaning

Reasonable charges for laundry at cost are applicable if the trip is over seven (7) working days. A maximum of $15.00 per week is allowed (receipts to be provided if available).

Expenses and Reporting

TRIGO will reimburse any reasonable and substantiated expenses incurred wholly and necessarily in the performance of business duties.

For the employee to be reimbursed for business expenses, the expenses must satisfy all of the following:

- Fulfill a legitimate business purpose
- Be reasonably consistent with normal travel and living standards
- Be supported with adequate documentation
- Be submitted through the authorized Expense Report form.

Non-reimbursable Expenses are expenses that are normal to everyday activities and would occur regardless of whether the employee is traveling or not. These expenses include, but are not limited to:

- Tobacco products
- Alcoholic beverages
- Books/Magazines/Newspapers
- Personal grooming supplies

Accurate and complete employee expense reports MUST be submitted every Monday for all expenses incurred in the previous week. A delayed submission may result in non-compensation. Employees are compensated for expenses with their pay. Expenses are shown as a separate line item on the pay stub and are not included in taxable income.

Unlike the time sheet, the expense report is for an individual employee. It is important the necessary information is provided.

By signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook, the employee agrees to all stipulations of the TRIGO Americas Travel Policy and agrees that when operating an owned or rented vehicle for work purposes, that they are over the age of 21 years and have a valid driver's license and have proof of insurance. They also agree and understand that TRIGO may randomly request employee to provide proof of a valid driver's license and insurance. The employee also agrees to inform TRIGO immediately of any convictions or conditions involving but not limited to: suspension, revocation or expiration of driver's license; administrative or criminal code violations that result in or could result in loss of license; and medical health issues which impair employee's vehicle operation abilities. Failure to adhere to the above responsibilities may result in dismissal.

Furthermore, by signing the acknowledgement page of this handbook, the employee authorizes TRIGO to deduct charges for non-work related travel incidentals incurred by employee including any charges for violation of hotel and rental car rules; (this includes but is not limited to cost incurred for cleaning hotel rooms and/or rental vehicles due to smoking in them, damages caused to hotel rooms and/or rental vehicles and charges for property reported missing from hotel rooms and/or rental vehicles) and for any extra charges incurred due to failure to check out of the hotel when going home on off days (if applicable), or at the end of the assignment or due to failure to return the rental car immediately upon return from my travels.

If a submitted expense report does not satisfy the deduction total in its entirety, employee authorizes TRIGO to deduct the remaining amount from the next payment to the fullest extent permitted by law. If that does not satisfy the deduction in its entirety, employee authorizes TRIGO to deduct the remaining amount from the following paycheck to the fullest extent permitted by law and from any future paychecks until the total deduction has been satisfied.

4.7 YARD AGREEMENT

Any TRIGO employee hired to work in the Yard will be issued a separate Yard Driver's Policy and Agreement once hired. Employees will be expected to read, sign and agree to the Yard Driver's Policy and Agreement before beginning their shift.

5. ATTENDANCE

ATTENDANCE STATEMENT

Punctuality and attendance are extremely important when performing 3rd party inspection work. If the inspection runs on more than one (1) shift, you are required to stay at the workstation until your relief shows up.

It is considered a no call/no show if you fail to call in an absence or fail to show up for your scheduled shift three (3) or more hours after the scheduled start time (1st offense – Final Written Warning Performance Correction Notice, 2nd offense – Termination). Considerations by management will be made for a no call/no show that is due to a provable emergency situation.
